THE RESIDENCE

Chalet Bluebird

Poised in the picturesque Oberdorf neighbourhood of St Anton, Chalet Bluebird is a five-bedroom mountain retreat of singular warmth and character, accommodating up to ten guests across 287 square metres of beautifully considered living space. Reclaimed wood and natural stone clad the walls, sumptuous wooden flooring runs underfoot, and a large glass-panelled wood-burning fireplace anchors the interior with a quietly dramatic presence. Stylish furnishings, tasteful ambient lighting and refined objets d'art complete an aesthetic that balances contemporary refinement with an authentically rustic alpine soul, while south-facing windows on the upper floor pour natural light across the principal living spaces and frame spectacular, uninterrupted views of the Rendl mountain and its surrounding ski area.

The generous upper floor is arranged for effortless communal living, with double living areas each offering roomy sofas, large flat-screen televisions and ample space for every guest to find their preferred corner of comfort. The smaller of the two makes an ideal retreat for younger guests, while adults gather in the larger room beside the roaring log fire. A hand-crafted chunky wooden dining table, surrounded by stylish chairs dressed with faux-fur throws, occupies the open-plan dining area and invites long, leisurely evenings. A wrap-around balcony extends the living space outdoors, offering those same sweeping Rendl views alongside the invigorating mountain air. A dedicated ski and boot room adjoins the main entrance on this level.

The sleeping floor below houses five spacious bedrooms, four of which enjoy private balcony access, and every bedroom is served by its own en-suite bathroom. The master double bedroom features a rain shower, a further double bunk room with adult-sized, purpose-built solid wood beds also includes a rain shower en suite, and the remaining three bedrooms may each be configured as double or twin rooms according to guests' preferences. A private sauna and dedicated laundry facilities complete the lower level, and two external parking spaces are available to guests. Chalet Bluebird is offered on a self-catered or accommodation-only basis, with the lively centre of St Anton a ten-minute stroll away and the nearest ski lift just seven minutes downhill on foot.
