THE RESIDENCE

Chalet Kitsune

Poised in an enviable position on the slopes of Val d'Isère, Chalet Kitsune is a newly renovated, standalone ski-in, ski-out chalet of 333 square metres, welcoming up to ten guests across five beautifully appointed bedrooms. A five-minute drive from the village yet mere moments from the lifts, it occupies one of the French Alps' most coveted addresses, where the grandeur of the mountains is ever present. Spread across three floors, the chalet has been conceived to honour both modern industrial refinement and the warmth of traditional alpine living, with bright white tones set against deep, sophisticated accents, warm oak flooring, and rich wood panelling throughout.

The open-plan living and dining area is flooded with natural light through large windows and French doors that open onto a terrace commanding breathtaking mountain views, an ideal setting for breakfast in the crisp alpine air or a leisurely sunset aperitif. A stunning marble-panelled, wood-burning fireplace anchors the living room with commanding elegance, whilst the adjacent kitchen, dressed in marble countertops, flows seamlessly into the dining area where a generous table seats the full party of ten. Vibrant lighting and considered artwork animate every corner, lending the interiors a singular, curated character.

The four upper-floor bedrooms are beautifully decorated sanctuaries of rest, complemented by a further bedroom on the ground floor. Here also lies a private spa, complete with a heated indoor swimming pool and sauna, offering a restorative retreat after long days on the piste. A dedicated television room and a well-appointed ski and boot room complete the amenities, ensuring every practicality is addressed with quiet, unobtrusive sophistication.
